WARD, FLORENCE

Second Eden. Against the varied and unusual background of a mid-western town where the energy and wealth following the war have brought about a conflict for leadership in financial, political and ethical situations, the author has created the powerful story of a group of people whose lives and happiness are dominated by the struggle. It is a rich and varied picture: Diana Wayne, the central figure of the book, is involved both by her affections and her restless desire to participate in the conflict. She finds herself a lone figure fighting desperately for her own happiness and the happiness of those who love her. She is baffled by her feminine inability to understand the motives of the men with whom she comes in contact. Defeated in the material struggle her fineness and her courageous acceptance of life wins for her the love of a worthy man and a chance for a second Eden. 12mo. Jacket in color. Decorative lining-papers. Stained top. $2.50

Spread Circles. An idealistic girl struggles for success and happiness through a world that seems to her brutal and rapacious. $2.00

The Flame of Happiness. An appealing American girl who is thrown early on her own resources at boarding school and college in the Middle West. $2.00

The Singing Heart. The story of a girl who goes forth to "live life" and what she finds. $2.00

†Phyllis Anne. A charming love story. $2.00

GRIFFITH, GRACE KELLOGG

*The Silent Drum. This novel of Constantinople brings to maturity the promise shown by the author in her previous book "The House." The people in this story are truly Turkish. It is a conflict between love and passion, laid in a time when the old customs are failing, and new standards have not been created. The figure of Elizabet, awakened by Western ideas and yet bound to the past, is a tragic and sympathetic characterization. It is doubtful if any recent writer has created a figure quite as truthfully as Jalil, passionately devoted to his country, torn and distracted by his love for Elizabet, disappointed and betrayed by his political associates, contemptuous of the women in his harem, and yet a truly courageous man. Under the brilliant Eastern sky the story reaches its inevitable climax which is neither happiness nor tragedy, but merely a human attempt at a solution of an unsolvable problem. 12mo. Jacket in color. Decorative lining-papers and twenty-one drawings. $2.50

LARRIMORE, LIDA

*Tarpaper Palace. A love story with a heroine as dainty and charming as the garden she longs for. Mary Ellen is a "frightfully old-fashioned" girl. She likes "poetry that rhymes," music with a tune, and a comfortable sort of garden full of hollyhocks and butterflies, with an apple tree or two, but all she has ever had is a tarpaper palace, a strange old half-finished building on an island, and when its owner comes it seems that she does not have even that. But the "loveliest summer," a New England summer, in spite of its difficulties and its threats of heartbreak and separation, brings Mary Ellen a happiness she desires and deserves. 12mo. Jacket in color. $2.00

VANE, DEREK

*The Sign of the Snake. A novel with an absorbing mystery and an unusual love story. Out of the murder of Lynn Fisher, the "Snake," arise the entanglements which threaten the lives and happiness of three men and three women. Young Tony Lavant has been accused of murdering the "Snake," but is acquitted. To the astonishment of his most intimate friend, Dick Verner, a man who has had much experience with sinister happenings in the Far East, Tony refuses to make any attempt to capture the real murderer and so completely clear himself. Verner decides to investigate. The trail leads into the slums of London. Here Verner faces death in an appalling form, and only a woman's courage saves his life. Then, quite by chance, the mystery of the "Snake's" death is solved, and the lives of the people involved are cleared of all entanglements. 12mo. Jacket in color. $2.00

SCOTT, WILL

*Shadows. A week-end party is on at Tinker's Revel, the estate just inherited by young Philip Nash. At nightfall strange happenings take place. The arrival of the Man with Three Wheels, a glimpse of the Limping Man, the murdered American outside the walls; and into this scene of terror and confusion stalks the inimitable Disher. He dismisses the obvious with a weary gesture and talks at length of himself and his accomplishments. The shadows of disaster gather more thickly about Tinker's Revel. Fear stalks the old secret passages. Death waits for Philip Nash, and apparently there is no way to thwart it until Disher interposes his bulky figure and debonair nonchalance. 12mo. Jacket in color. $2.00

TAYLOR, G. S.

*According to the Cardinal. The Rollicking Chronicles of Touchard-Lafosse.

The most entertaining volumes from the pen of G. Touchard-Lafosse, these Chroniques de L'Oeil de Boeuf here translated by G. S. Taylor under the title of "The Rollicking Chronicles of Touchard-Lafosse," are the fruit of many years' research into the documents and memoirs of the period, both among libraries and private collections, which produced an enormous wealth of material concerning the reigns of Louis XIII, XIV, XV and XVI. Like Dumas, Touchard-Lafosse was something of a vulgarisateur; he was an exposer of character and not an explorer; but his irreverent pictures of dreary and incapable Louis XIII, of his tragic amorous wife and Buckingham, her handsome popinjay of a lover, of Madame de Chevreuse in her frailty and resourceful wit, of the less dignified antics of Richelieu as well as his more terrible aspect, are vivid, convincing and memorable. Octavo. Collotype illustrations. $3.50

Travel

LORIMER, NORMA

The Mediterranean and Beyond. This unconventional traveler follows little known paths between points of more familiar interest. The author wanders leisurely from London to Palestine and back by the way of Trieste and the Adriatic, Greece with its islands and the Mediterranean, Brindisi, Cairo and Luxor, and finally to the Tyrol. The book is the result of an attempt to prove that the Holy Land is not completely spoiled, but is still golden with the halo of romance and memory. The author brings to her journey a fresh viewpoint and a tremendous enthusiasm and interest in the lives of the people, their manners and customs. Royal octavo. With twenty illustrations from photographs. $5.00

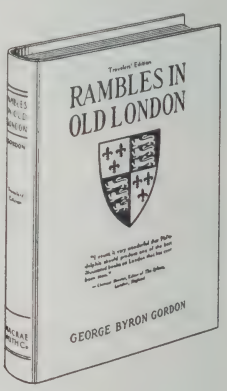
NORDEN, HERMANN

By-Ways of the Tropic Seas. A book dealing with wanderings among the Solomons and in the Malay Archipelago. The impressions of an American who has spent the greater part of his life in remote parts of the world, who has come to understand the customs and characters of remote peoples, and who records them in an easy, charming style. Illustrated with sixty-three photographs and two maps. Crown 8vo. $5.00

White and Black in East Africa. A record of sport, travel and observation in East Africa by an American scientist who writes of adventurous journeyings in a sparklingly unconventional manner. There are glimpses of the East Coast, Zanzibar, Mombasa, Nairobi, Wakamba and Masai, the Laikipia District, and many other equally fascinating places. Interspersed with the vivid descriptions of the country, are many valuable and illuminating comments on the natives, politics, manners and customs of the people. This is more than a "travel" book in every way. Thirty-four photographs and two maps. Crown 8vo. Previously published by the Small, Maynard & Co. $5.00

GORDON, GEORGE BYRON

Rambles in Old London—Travelers' Edition. This fascinating book by Dr. Gordon has been remade into a travelers' edition. The book is the result of ten years of study and research, and its accuracy has been praised by London critics. The charm of the writing conveys the romance of Old London, being an invaluable guide and a splendid companionable book, not only for the person going to London, but for the Armchair traveler. This edition contains all the material of the previous edition, and is merely remade in a size more convenient for carrying. Profusely illustrated with photographs. Colored frontispiece. 12mo. $2.50



HEATHCOTE, DUDLEY

HOLLAND, RUPERT SARGENT

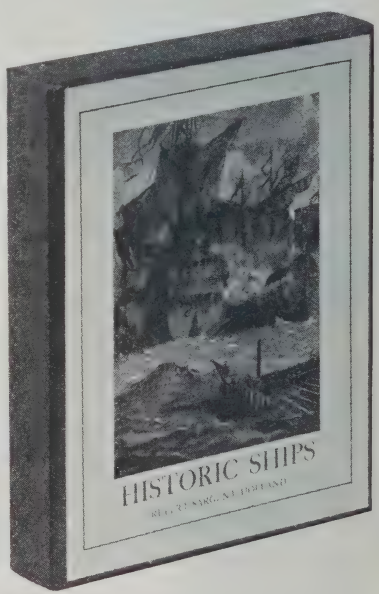
*Historic Airships. With a foreword by Commander Richard E. Byrd. The complete story of man's efforts at flying, from the legend of Icarus to the astonishing conquests of space today. It is a comprehensive narrative from the time first ascents were made at Versailles. The development of the heavier-than-air machine although comparatively modern is probably the most daring of man's achievements. Every aspect of this progress, as well as the progress of the dirigible, has been traced finally to the individual triumphs of Lindbergh, Chamberlain, Byrd, Maitland, Bert Hinkler, Baron Von Huenefeld, Captain Koehl and Colonel Fitzmaurice; and Captain Wilkins. Illustrated in full color from paintings by Manning deV. Lee. Profusely illustrated in black and white. Decorated. Stained top. Boxed. 4to. $4.00

Historic Railroads. Here for the first time, is presented the story of the romance of transportation on land. Beginning with the era of stage coaches and travel by canal and road the tale then takes up the first attempts to apply the newly discovered power of steam to an engine that would pull cars over a road of rails. Then follows the excitement of the first trains, the opposition, the discouragement and success. Illustrations in full color from paintings by Manning deV. Lee. Profusely decorated with drawings in two colors and black and white. Black and white illustrations. Stained top. 4to. Boxed. $4.00

Historic Ships. A perfect gift book that should be of interest to adults as well as boys and girls. The story of the most famous ships of all times with accounts of the battles and voyages, the exploits of their captains and the lives and adventures of the crews. Some of the subjects are the Santa Maria, the Constitution, Sir Francis Drake's ship, The Golden Hinde, Magellan's Victoria, Henry Hudson's Half Moon, the Galley of Lief Ericson, and many more. 4to. Illustrated in color by Manning deV. Lee. Profusely decorated in two colors, specially designed title page and lining papers. Stained top. Boxed. $4.00



JONES, PAUL

*An Alphabet of Aviation

Few people realize the extent to which the airplane has been developed. The boys and girls of today accept the airplane as part of their life.

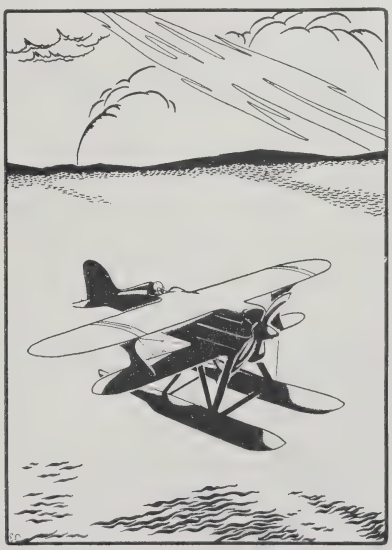
This book has been designed to appeal to everyone who would like a general knowledge of aviation, but particularly to the boy and girl who is not yet ready for a technical book, but who is eager to know the characteristics of airplanes and the primary parts of their construction and their uses.

The arrangement in alphabet form is purely arbitrary and used to simplify the explanations. All the usual forms of planes are depicted, showing the characteristics and differentiations in types so that the reader would know at once the difference between an amphibian and a seaplane, and there is a description of each part of the plane and an explanation of its use when in flight.

The text explains the large pictures and there is a drawing of each mechanical part. The reader may see at once the construction of a fuselage, or a vertical stabilizer, elevator, rudder and so on, and understand how each part functions.

The author was a lieutenant in the United States Air Service during the war, instructed in aerial gunnery and flew in France.

The book is printed throughout in three colors and has more than sixty illustrations by Edward Shenton. Jacket in color. Royal octavo. $2.00

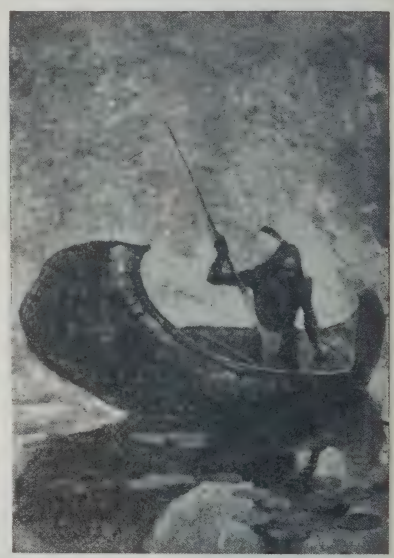


* Frontier Days

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA'S HISTORY

Edited by OLIVER G. SWAN

Twelve illustrations in full color from paintings by Frank E. Schoonover, Manning deV. Lee, Charles Hargens, Jr., Frank Eltonhead and Michael Silver



The Romance of America's History is a general title for a series of books which will deal with the romantic aspects of our nation's history.

The first volume of this series is Frontier Days and covers a period of about one hundred years from 1800-1900 when the energy, courage and hardihood of a great number of our people were absorbed in the movement westward that opened our country from ocean to ocean. It is a collection not only of true stories, but the very best fiction both of the past and by writers of the present. This gives a glamorous and authentic picture of a time dear to the heart of the youth of America.

The Indian, the Prospector, the Cowboy, the Homesteader, the Bad Man, the Miner, the Rancher, the Adventurer, all the varied human life which that period developed is included in this book. In addition there are articles of a practical nature, the building of a tepee, of a birch-bark canoe, the use of smoke signals by the Indians, of firearms and pioneer instruments.

There are true accounts by scouts and trappers; stories by Bret Harte, Hamlin Garland, Emerson Hough, Mark Twain, George Bird Grinnell, William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), Colonel Homer Wheeler, cowboy songs and ballads, the story of the Gold Rushes, by Edwin L. Sabin, and short stories by many other writers.

The book will have twelve illustrations in color and over 100 drawings in black and white. Decorated and strongly bound. The volume will comprise 512 pages. Size 7¼ x 9½. Boxed. $5.00

LANG, ANDREW

The Red Fairy Book. The second volume of these stories taken from old Folk Tales of all parts of the world, edited by Andrew Lang. This volume contains many well known stories, as well as some that are less familiar. Jack and the Beanstalk, The Golden Branch, The Twelve Brothers, Rapunzel, are known to all readers of Fairy Tales, and are contained in the Red Fairy Book. Along with them are stories equally fascinating and selected from more obscure sources. The Norka, Kair Woodengown, Minnikin, and The Story of Sigurd. Illustrated in color and black and white by Manning deV. Lee. Small 4to. Stained top. Decorated title page. Boxed. $2.50

The Blue Fairy Book. A beautiful Gift Edition of this most popular of all books of Fairy Tales edited by Andrew Lang. Here are some of the favorite stories included: Cinderella, Beauty and the Beast, The History of Whittington, The Forty Thieves, Blue Beard, and The Brave Little Tailor. The illustrator has succeeded in capturing completely the spirit of the stories. Small 4to. Illustrated in color by Manning deV. Lee. Decorated, specially designed title page and lining papers. Stained top. Boxed. $2.50

PATTESON, S. LOUISE

How to Have Bird Neighbors. The author's own experiences and discoveries in attracting bird neighbors told for young people in an informational, practical, and entertaining style. Complete and simple directions for building bird houses are given. Cover design and frontispiece in color. Fifty-four illustrations from photographs by the author. Cloth. 12mo. $1.25

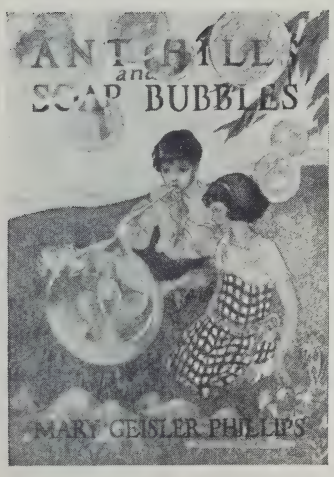
WAGER-SMITH, CURTIS

Animal Pals. A new edition of this extremely popular and valuable book containing the best of many stories sent to the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals during their True Animal Tales Contest. These stories were selected by Albert Payson Terhune, Miss Agnes Repplier and C. Emerson Brown. This edition contains several new stories and a number of new photographs, as well as the previous material. Printed and bound in a fashion similar to the first edition. More than forty illustrations from photographs. 12mo. $1.00

PHILLIPS, MARY GEISLER

*Spider Webs and Sunflowers. This is the third book by the same author dealing with those insects that have a developed and intelligent life. The two children of the previous books are again the interested observers, and through them Mrs. Phillips disproves the old beliefs that spiders are dangerous. The material is scientifically authentic and is treated with rare humor and interest. A fine book for youngsters who exhibit a healthy interest in the lives of the small creatures about them. Illustrations by Blanche Greer and Albert W. Force. Jacket in color. Square 8vo. $2.00

Honey Bees and Fairy Dust. A fascinating story of two children's adventures with Bees. Mary Phillips is the wife of Dr. E. F. Phillips, who, until recently was Chief Apiarist of the United States Department of Agriculture. The account of the habits and life of the Bees is absolutely accurate. The story is whimsical and full of humor and should be interesting to adults as well as to children. Sq. 8vo. Thirty illustrations by Ellen Edmonson. $2.00



Ant Hills and Soap Bubbles. In this book Mrs. Phillips describes the life and habits of the Ant in the same fashion that she wrote of the life and habits of the Bee in Honey Bees and Fairy Dust. The material is scientifically correct, and treated so deftly, with such humor and imagination that it is more interesting reading than fiction. The two children who were in the previous book are the central figures in this. They enter the kingdom of Ants, where they find a marvelously directed and intelligent life. They see the Ant armies, the Ant schools, and the cows that furnish milk; as well as the elaborate and complete underground cities of the Ant. Jacket in color. Profusely illustrated in black and white by Grace Norcross and Albert W. Force. Square 8vo. $2.00

BURROUGHS, EDGAR RICE.

Tarzan, Lord of the Jungle. Colored Jacket..... 2.00
Again, TARZAN returns in the most captivating example of the romantic novel published in years. In a highly engaging manner modern, medieval and primitive men are daringly brought into conflict. This fascinating story has the humor of Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," the thrill of Sir Rider Haggard's "She," and a dramatic quality unequaled by either.

The Master Mind of Mars. Illustrated..... 2.00
Burroughs takes his readers to the red planet for another of his weird and wonderful tales, the sixth in the Martian series. Thrills and adventure abound. Never-ending conjectures as to the possibility of inhabitants on the planet Mars add to the desire to read this exciting romance. Modern surgery and its marvellous accomplishments are the basis for experiments in THE MASTER MIND OF MARS that keep one on the anxious seat It is a worthy successor of the previous Martian books.

FRIEND, OSCAR J.

Bloody Ground. Colored Jacket..... 2.00

How a Colorado kiss ravished from Sophia Eustace by one of the "Helling Mellers" caused the death of six strong men, crippled another for life, unmasked a theft, redeemed the soul of a low-down fiend and generally raised Cain until the arrival of "The Gentleman from Hell." Mr. Friend furnishes abundant local color, plenty of shooting and an exciting plot, replete with action and romance.

Gun Harvest. Colored Jacket..... 2.00

"Gun Harvest" knew no season nor time; the reaper was Death, garnering with the staccato crack of a .45 —the roar of a rifle volley. And the sowing went on like the eternal wind on the plains—now fitful gusts, now a gale—and its source as vague and elusive. The spawn of Greed: it grew to a Frankenstein. The story is grim but not ghastly. Friend swings into his plot in good style and gives us a tale that is novel in conception and well written. A light thread of romance adds to the interest. Although a mystery story, Friend "puts his cards on the table" and then in a tense, smashing climax, hands the reader a surprise. With "Gun Harvest" Friend can cut another notch of success on his "Writin' Iron."

HORTON, ROBERT J.

The "Killer's" Protégé. Colored Jacket..... 2.00

Occasionally there appears a Western story that rates several degrees higher than the average. Such a tale is Robert J. Horton's latest book, THE "KILLER'S" PROTÉGÉ. It has an abundance of action of the sort that isn't disgusting. The story concerns the protégé of Jess Sneed, the "killer" who was killed. It is not without its love interest, but that does not predominate. This is a tale that every lover of Western fiction will enjoy, as well as those who do not ordinarily like them.

BECK, HERBERT M. Chief of Naturalization, Camden County Courts, Camden, N. J. Aliens' Text Book on Citizenship. In preparing this book the aim has been to provide means of thoroughly and quickly acquiring the knowledge necessary to pass the examinations for Naturalization and to assist those who have been deprived of the advantages of our modern Public Schools. As the book is intended for easy reading and not for hard study, unnecessary verbiage has been avoided. During many years' experience in Naturalization work, Mr. Beck has been convinced that the prospective Citizen can be chiefly aided by the proper manner of selecting and arranging questions and answers, thereby enabling him to learn the principles of our Government the more quickly. This little book is published in the hope that it will do just that.

BURROW'S HANDY GUIDE TO EUROPE. Twenty-nine Maps and Plans. This book justifies its title by covering the whole of Europe and not merely a few countries which happen to be the more obvious and popular touring grounds. Every effort has been made not only to make the Guide as comprehensive as possible within the limitations of space imposed by a book which must necessarily be of handy pocket size, but also to ensure that it shall be as accurate and up-to-date as possible. It incorporates the effect of recent changes which throw many older guides hopelessly out of date on matters of importance to tourists. The inclusion of a large number of clear maps, not overloaded with small detail, but showing the places of primary interest to travelers, repairs a serious practical omission of which users of some older publications have been keenly conscious, while the equally clear street plans of London, Paris, Rome and Milan—cities of supreme tourist interest—are worth many pages of verbal directions as to how to find this or that place. 410 pages.....net, 3 50

LEADING FEATURES, AND OPINIONS CONCERNING THEM.

PRONUNCIATION OF PROPER NAMES.—All proper names are printed in black type, syllabified and accentuated. The editor in his preface says: "To know one you must know his name, especially in Mythology, where names constitute being."

"After years of experience I appreciate the value of the pronunciation of proper names in the body of the text. The time for the study is limited; it is impossible to require incessant use of dictionary. . . . I believe you have done much to secure correct spelling. . . . The illustrations in your edition are a valuable feature.

"The recognition of the mythology of Babylon, Assyria, and Phœnicia I consider timely."—Mary L. Hanna, Teacher of English, Central High School, Cleveland, Ohio.

BULFINCH'S AGE OF CHIVALRY, or KING ARTHUR AND HIS KNIGHTS. New Revised Edition by Rev. J. Loughran Scott. This New Edition, uniform with "The Age of Fable," has been thoroughly revised and a number of new chapters added. The numerous illustrations have been prepared with great care and considerable expense. As "The Age of Fable" superseded all former editions of that book, so this edition of "The Age of Chivalry" is far superior to any other work on the subject yet published.

Crown octavo, ... net 2 00

"No one can read this edition of 'The Age of Chivalry' without coming in contact with the best literature of the Arthurian Legends. While retaining the old, at the same time we have created a new work. The interest of these legends naturally centers about King Arthur and Queen Guinevere. In the case of Guinevere we have added a new section, and also enlarged the chapter that treats of Arthur and the passing of his kingdom. The names ranking next in interest are those of Launcelot and Elaine; here, too, we have written an additional section. At the close of the first part we have inserted a chapter on Mediæval Legends. St. George and Robin Hood attach to an importance scarcely surpassed by King Arthur himself. We have also drawn directly from Sir Thomas Mallory, especially in connection with the adventures of Sir Tor, Sir Pellenore, Sir Gawain, Sir Launcelot, and Sir Galahad."

"A Third Part with seven additional chapters has been added, consisting largely of the writings of Ossian. Whatever may have been the origin of those strange books, they certainly embody more of the ancient spirit of Britain than any other similar work."

COOK, WILLIAM. The Chess Player's Compendium. A Practical Guide to the openings. Fifth Edition, with a new supplement by Alfred Emery. A collection of nearly two thousand examples, continued to the twentieth move, from games actually played by experts, will meet the requirements of students who, nowadays, seek some knowledge of the method of framing an attack or establishing a defense in the early "middle game," to supplement their experimental familiarity with the preliminary stage of the opening. 332 pages, 8vo, .. 2 50

CHESS SACRIFICES AND TRAPS. By Alfred Emery. (With a note on the "New Ideas.") 12mo, cloth binding.....net, 1 25

The first part of the work consists of a selection of traps from the Openings. As the author remarks in his preface, a number of well-known typical snares could not possibly be omitted, for, if as ancient, almost, as the game itself, they still trouble afresh each new generation of learners. As much new matter has been introduced, however, as was reasonably practicable.

In the second part of the book Middle Game sacrifices are illustrated from the splendid combinative play of Alekhine, Reti, Bogoljubow and other modern Masters, admittedly unequalled in this phase of Chess.

The third part of the book consists of Endings, in which also the idea of sacrifice predominates.

CHESS OF TO-DAY. By Alfred Emery (Author of "Chess Sacrifices and Traps," etc., etc.) 12mo, cloth.....net, 1 25

Owing to the success and wide appreciation of Mr. Emery's former work, the publishers, anticipate a large demand for this new book, which contains a large selection of the best games of the best Masters. Mr. Emery grips that period of vivid and surprising interest, 1918–23, and in a concise, lucid, and masterly manner comments upon the games. His Introduction to the book should be read by all Chess players who are interested in the rise, progress, and influence of the ultra-modern school.

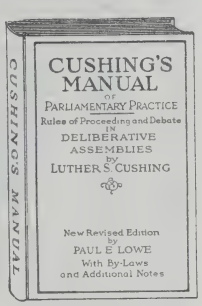
CUSHING'S MANUAL OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE

Prominent among the new features presented in the revision of Cushing's Manual is a model form for the drafting of CONSTITUTIONS and BY-LAWS, which, with slight and appropriate modifications, may be made to apply to any character of deliberative body; and also an EXEMPLAR demonstrating the correct proceedings of a meeting in active operation.

Revised by PAUL E. LOWE



This standard manual, just revised, amplified and brought up to date, is preëminently the most complete, highly instructive, and thoroughly reliable guide, now available to the practical application of PARLIAMENTARY LAW, and for the orderly regulation of the proceedings in all legislative assemblies, meetings of societies, associations, corporation directories, clubs, and organizations of every character.

For the vast number of deliberative organizations already in existence in every state, county, large and small municipalities, and urban communities; as well as for the guidance of groups of American citizens, wherever located, who may have in contemplation the creation of organizations for the promotion of any object or cause whatsoever, the possession of a copy of this incomparable authority on every fundamental feature and essential detail of Parliamentary Practice, is of the most vital importance; and this is particularly true as referred to such members of organizations who are elected or appointed to act in official capacities. DAWSON, MARY. The Mary Dawson Game Book. In planning the home entertainments, which have become in this country such a delightful part of the social life of every community, there is nothing in which the hostess stands more frequently in need than good original games. The games of to-day are as diversified as those who assemble at parties, and this book covers every occasion. For the young, runabout games; for the sedate, question games and guessing contests; for boys and girls who will follow a college course in the near future, games with a college flavor; for tiny tots, games so simple that even a three-year-old can grasp them.

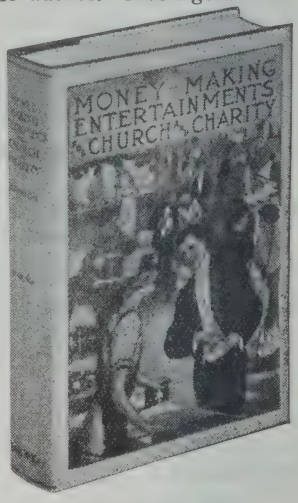
In this book practically all the pastimes and contests described are original inventions of the author. A few good old games which seem to have been forgotten in our day and generation, have been revived and included, being too good to be allowed to sink into oblivion. Large 12mo, cloth, 825 pages . . Net, $2 00



DAWSON, MARY. Money-Making Entertainments for Church and Charity. Some of the noblest works of church and charity are maintained by men and women who are not of the moneyed class. Energy and devotion are their offering to the cause, and these most frequently take the form of arranging entertainments to draw in sums large or small. For all such affairs an original idea is essential and those who fail do so for lack of a novel plan. 305 pages, 12mo, cloth, . . . Net, 1 25

DAWSON, MARY, and EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD. The Book of Entertainments and Frolics for All Occasions. In giving a part on a holiday or special occasion, the difficulty of the hostess lies in the selection of an appropriate entertainment. This book solves the problem.

Wrapper printed in two colors. 235 pages. 12mo, cloth 1 25

——— Book of Parties and Pastimes. Wherever a home frolic has delighted the children, old or young; or a church fair has achieved success; or a cleverly arranged dinner or supper has made a hit; or a novel dance or luncheon has been the "talk of the town," one may safely wager that the published writings of Mesdames Dawson and Telford have been drawn upon for fresh material.

McLaughlin's New Pronouncing Dictionaries

THE MOST COMPLETE PRONOUNCING DICTIONARIES—INDISPENSABLE FOR THE STUDY OF FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Containing the whole Vocabulary in General Use with copious selections of Scientific, Technical, and Commercial Terms, and others brought into Use, with their Pronunciations figured in both Languages.

Two Parts in One Volume

French-English and English-French. A dictionary of the French and English languages. By E. CLIFTON and J. McLAUGHLIN.

The pronunciation of every word is given as nearly as it was found possible to represent it according to the English sounds. In addition to this the editor has added a chapter on "French pronunciation in general," which will be of great value in helping the beginner to acquire the correct pronunciation.

1370 Pages, Large 12mo, Cloth, net $2.00

Italian-English—English-Italian. A new dictionary of the Italian and English languages. By A. ENENKEL, revised and corrected by J. McLAUGHLIN.

This dictionary contains all the words used by writers from the beginning of the seventeenth century to the present time, also special terms relating to Sciences, Arts, Commerce and Manufactures vainly sought after in so many similar works.

The pronunciation is figured by a very simple system and as exactly as possible.

1090 Pages, Large 12mo, Cloth, net $2.00

Spanish-English—English-Spanish. A new dictionary of the Spanish and English languages. By A. ANGELI, revised and corrected by J. McLAUGHLIN.

TO THE STUDENT AND TRANSLATOR THIS WORK WILL BE A BENEFIT; TO THE TRADESMAN, MANUFACTURER AND POLITICIAN A NECESSITY

The increased commercial relation with Cuba, Porto Rico, Philippines and South American countries has rendered this study indispensable even to him who is not attracted by the pleasure of being able to read in the original the works of the poets, historians, philosophers and men of science.

In addition to the words in general use the work includes the majority of proper names and places which differ in the two languages, and special terms relating to Sciences, Arts, Commerce and Manufacture.

The Columbus Dispatch says:

"No matter how many cook books you have, the Home Dietitian has a place all its own.

"Years of experience in teaching, demonstrating, lecturing, housekeeping and rearing children have shown Mrs. Ives that most cook books have not met the need of the average housewife.

"The distinctive features of the Home Dietitian are the quantities of suggestions, recipes and information for everyday use and the handsome washable cover that makes the book so practical and yet so attractive for a gift. Two and one-half years were spent in compiling the book. It is rapidly gaining favor in every state and in many foreign countries."

A Home Economics Instructor says:

"I have taught cooking for sixteen years and have always been interested in any new cook book published—always hoping to find 'a simple American cook book' that I could recommend to students, as well as the progressive mothers that are eager to meet the demands of their family without spending too much time or money. At last I have found it,—the Home Dietitian answers every purpose."

A Bride says:

"I am delighted with The Home Dietitian. It has helped me to cook so much better and more economically that I am sure I saved the price of the book before I had used it a week. Please send me four more copies for friends."

A Radio Listener says:

"For almost a year we have enjoyed Mrs. Ives' recipes and talks broadcasted from Station WAIU (Columbus, O.). Would you tell me how I could procure one of her cook books? We have tried so many of her recipes and find them so 'good, quick and easy.'"

A Mother says:

"The lists of suggestions, menus and articles on children's diet in The Home Dietitian make cooking a pleasure. It has taken the place of a whole cabinet full of clippings, booklets and out-of-date cook books I have saved. I believe it contains all of my old favorite recipes and ever so many new ones I often wanted to try, but never could find when I needed them. I am sure it will never lie on the shelf long enough to collect dust."

LUDY, ROBERT B., M.D. Historic Hotels of the World. There have been books about inns and hotels before this one, but no such comprehensive work as Doctor Ludy has written has yet appeared. Here is told in a rapid, entertaining, gossipy manner the stories of many of the Historic Hotels in all parts of the world. Beginning with antiquity, the volume follows in a sketchy, vivid way, the development of the hotel from the primitive shelter for wayfarers to the luxurious, palatial sky-scraping hostelry of the present day. 130 illustrations, 328 pages, 8vo, cloth ..... net, $5 00

MACKINLAY, STERLING. Origin and Development of Light Opera. Mr. Mackinlay here tells the enthralling story of light opera in many lands and many centuries, commencing with the state of ancient Greece and Rome, with a glance at Egypt and the East, casting a bird's-eye view of the vast subject from medieval Europe to that of the present day. He passes in review England and America, France, Italy and Spain, Germany and Austria, Russia and Scandinavia. 8vo, cloth ..... net, 5 00

MARTINEAU, MRS. PHILIP. Roumania and Her Rulers. With a Preface by H. R. H. The Infanta Beatrice. An authoritative volume of great topical interest. Mrs. Philip Martineau, well known in London society, and an experienced traveller, has had the privilege of being the guest of Queen Marie of Roumania and other members of the Court circle. Here she gives us an intimate picture of the home life of a beautiful and talented queen and her children, and also has much to say about the political crisis in Roumania. Some amusing anecdotes about Queen Victoria (related to the author by the late King Ferdinand) are printed here for the first time. Other notabilities with whom we walk arm-in-arm in these pages include Prince Carol, Prince Stirbey, Queen Sophie of Greece, Princess Ileana, and H. R. H. 8vo, cloth, fully illustrated ..... net, 3 50

LIEUT. J. P. MÜLLER'S FAMOUS "MY SYSTEM BOOKS."

Nearly a Million Copies Sold.

"My System" has been publicly recommended by over 500 doctors in sixteen different countries, and advocated in many standard medical works.

A prominent U. S. Congressman recently consulted a leading specialist—professor in the Medical College of Johns Hopkins University—and after being charged $50.00 for a diagnosis, was told to "Buy a copy of Lieut. Müller's Book 'MY SYSTEM,' follow his directions and take no medicine." The congressman afterwards stated that the prescription was worth many times the cost. This story is vouched for by the Hon. A. W. Lafferty.

CONTENTS: Tissue-Paper Patterns; Dress Development; Designing With Foundation Patterns; Cutting and Fitting; Dress Construction and Finishing Dresses; Ribbon Trimmings and Flowers. Fully Illustrated, 496 pages, 8vo, cloth ..... net 3 00

Garment making, like bread making, originated in the home and later became a definite and prominent part of trade work, but, like bread making, will always remain as a desirable part of home work and of individual shop work.

This Volume covers many stages of dressmaking—the use of tissue-paper patterns, the designing, the cutting, the making, and the trimming of garments. To design, cut, and construct lovely, wearable garments is an achievement worthy of our best pride, so it behooves us to study and practice and actually learn how to make garments that will do us credit.

"QUEX." New York. With a Preface by Jeffery Farnol. Few men can have had more varied opportunities for studying life in great cities than "Quex." Recently he visited everyone and everything worth visiting in New York, and has recorded his impressions of American social and business life, politics, the theatre, hotels, night-clubs, and all that goes to make up the glamour and movement of that giant Metropolis. Arnold Bennett has said that "Quex" leaves nothing humdrum; everything he touches becomes romantic and enthralling. Jeffery Farnol, who has a wide knowledge of America, in his Introduction to this book, pays remarkable tribute to the photographic brain, the polished style, and the Ruskinesque choice of the right word of this brilliant writer. If you would understand New York today, you must read "Quex." Cloth. net, 1 50

SUN-YAT-SEN. Memoirs of a Chinese Revolutionary. Translated from the Russian by A. Rothenstein. In this book Sun-Yat-Sen, first President of the Chinese Republic, gives his opinions of Chinese character and an account of the events which led to the Revolution in China, in which he played the part of leader. He attributes the Chinese want of enterprise to their lack of knowledge, and demonstrates that China, cut off from the rest of the world by her traditions, customs and laws, is in a state of stagnation. An appendix gives two of Sun-Yat-Sen's recent speeches, and in addition there is a note, added by the Russian editor, in which he makes some interesting observations on Sun-Yat-Sen's theories in the light of the Bolshevik Revolution. 8vo, cloth. . net, $3 50

WELLS, JANE WARREN. Dress and Look Slender. Large 12mo, cloth .....net, 2 00

I am 30 pounds overweight, yet no one ever suspects it. I have given up all thought of taking dangerous medicines, wearing annoying appliances, and doing strenuous exercises in an effort to reduce. I am healthy, happy, and comfortable, but I appear 30 pounds lighter than I really am because I have followed scientific principles in planning and selecting clothes that make me look slender. These principles, made so clear that any one can understand and use them, I have set forth in this book.—The Author.

SEPHARIAL'S NEW DICTIONARY OF ASTROLOGY: In which all technical and abstruse terms used in the text-books of the science are intimately explained and illustrated by Sepharial. Here is a book which gives easy access to what may be called an abstruse science. It is not really so, as can be seen from the lucid explanation of astrological terms given by the author. There is, indeed, nothing that is met with in astrological books which is not here defined and illustrated in a perfectly comprehensive manner. Sepharial has surely brought the lay student under tribute to his faculty. None will recognize this more certainly than the advanced student who will not fail to add this compendium of knowledge to his library. 8vo, cloth.....net, 2 00

THE SECRET OF ANCIENT EGYPT. By Ernest G. Palmer. The author of this work amplifies the theory put forward by the late Mr. Marsham Adams that the Great Pyramid was an ancient temple of initiation, and was constructed in such a manner as to enshrine symbolically the esoteric truths carefully guarded by the hierophants of Ancient Egypt. The sacred book containing their ritual, the so-called "Book of the Dead," fulfilled a similar purpose, and the author shows that the book and the monument are complementary, and that the secrets of the one are unfolded by a study of the other. 12mo, cloth.....net,$1 50

THE SEPHER YETZIRAH OR, BOOK OF FORMATION. Newly translated from the Original Hebrew and annotated by Knut Stenring. With an introduction by Arthur Edward Waite.

This version of "The Sepher Yetzirah" embodies several discoveries made by the author during his study of the work. Amongst these may be noted:—The number of verses in the original Sepher Yetzirah—The original symmetrical table of Tetragrammaton—The original distribution of the Trigrams—The Great Arcana of the Kabala—The Chaldean Calendar—The correspondences in space—The equilibrium of the seven doubles. The work is the result of deep and systematic study of the Hebrew text by a Hebrew scholar. 8vo, cloth.....net, 2 00

TRANSCENDENTAL MAGIC: ITS DOCTRINE, PRACTICE, AND RITUAL. By ELIPHAS LÉVI. Translated, annotated and introduced by ARTHUR EDWARD WAITE. 9 ins. x 6 ins., ornamental cloth, about 560 pp., with all the original plates and portrait.....net, 7 50

This authoritative and famous work by the founder of modern occultism is generally regarded as indispensable to the study of the theory and practice of magic.

Mr. Waite's translation of Eliphas Lévi's MAGNUM OPUS appeared originally in 1895, has been long out of print, and copies, which are exceedingly scarce, are in continual demand among students and collectors. In the present re-issue the text has been revised throughout and elucidatory notes have been added, the materials being drawn mainly from other expository writings of the French Magus, scarcely any of which are available in English, and some of them at the present day are met with but rarely in France. They are: (1) THE RED BOOK. (2) DICTIONARY OF CHRISTIAN LITERATURE. (3) THE GOSPEL OF FREEDOM. (4) KEY TO THE GREAT MYSTERIES. (5) THE SCIENCE OF SPIRITS. (6) THE BOOK OF THE SAGES. (7) FABLES AND SYMBOLS. (8) THE SORCERER OF MEUDON. (9) PARADOXES OF THE HIGHEST SCIENCE. (10) THE GATES OF THE FUTURE. (11) THE HOLY KINGDOM. (12) THE GREATER KEYS. (13) THE MYSTERIES OF THE KABALAH. (14) LETTERS TO BARON SPEDALIERI.

THE ENCIRCLED SERPENT. A Study of Serpent Symbolism in all Countries and Ages. By M. Oldfield Howey. Author of "The Horse in Magic and Myth." With a coloured frontispiece, eight full-page plates, and eighty-eight illustrations in the text. His book must represent many years of loving and arduous research."—Sunday Times. Large 8vo.....net, 7 50

THE BOOK OF TALISMANS, AMULETS AND ZODIACAL GEMS. By William Thomas and Kate Pavitt. Illustrated with a colored frontispiece and ten full page plates. 292 pages. Octavo, cloth,..net,$4 00

This work is the outcome of many years' study of occultism, ancient and modern, covering a very wide area, beginning with prehistoric talismans, and ranging through Egyptian, Chinese, Japanese, Thibetan, Indian, Etruscan, Greek, Roman, early Christian and mediæval civilizations. The subject is rich in romantic interest and is calculated to make a very wide appeal. The illustrations form an important feature of the book, being drawn from authentic examples by a skilled artist, and reproduced with exceptional care and accuracy.

THE RIDDLE OF THE SPHINX. By J. Munsell Chase. This work explains Unity, Duality, the Trinity and the Quaternity, showing them to be facts in nature; it defines spirit and the Fourth Dimension, showing wherein they consist; defines man's relation to the Zodiac, and makes plain many profound mysteries heretofore left in the dark. This condensed compendium of mystic principles has justly received the unqualified praise of eminent thinkers. One says: "It has solved a hundred doubts for me." What do you know about the Pyramids? What do you know about the Sphinx? What do you know about their builders? Do you know what facts they intended to symbolize by them? If you have not studied them, or do not understand their meaning, READ THIS BOOK. Thirty plates of Symbols. 12mo, cloth,.....net, 1 00

HOW TO CONTROL FATE THROUGH SUGGESTION..... $0 50

The principles dealt with are: Unity—Revolution—Tendency of Thought—Fate—Man—Logic—Matter—Evolution—Force—Spirit—The New Man—Finer Vibrations—All Knowledge Possible—Race Sensitiveness—Saviours—Progress—No Sickness—Liberty—Spiritual Gifts—Classification of Psychic Power—Love—Love's Pitch and Octaves—Concentration—Involuntary Concentration—One Power to Heal—Millennium Here.

SELF-HEALING THROUGH SUGGESTION 50

This book has had a phenomenal sale. In Part First the Principles of Mental Healing are simply and plainly set forth. Healing is dealt with in the same manner as the Professor of Chemistry or Physics deals with his subject.

Every Question naturally asked in relation to drugless healing is answered.

In Part Second all the necessary directions and formulas are given for self-healing. All any one needs to know, that he may be able to use thought for the restoration of health, is here stated in terms so simple that the ordinary person can follow.

DOLLARS WANT ME. The New Road to Opulence, a Soul Culture Lesson 5c

This well conserves the purpose for which it was written. I wish to awaken my fellows to a sense of their present possessions and help them to a realization of the principle which controls Life's expression, so that, Living being to them "a fine art," they will cease to look for happiness in some far-off heaven, but will enter into the enjoyment of the one they create here and now. It is believed that this little monograph is the first utterance of the thought that each individual has the ability to so radiate his mental force that he can cause the dollar to feel him, love him, seek him, and thus draw, at will, all things needed for his unfoldment from the Universal Supply.

"It will help you to rise above the drudgery of enforced labor, and enable you to enter upon the manifold expressions of life with the joy and spontaneity of childhood."—Henry Harrison Brown.

CONCENTRATION. The Road to Success. One of the Most Practical Books upon the Subject..... 50

Here Are Titles of Some of Its Chapters:

Concentration—Some Channels of Waste—How Shall I Concentrate?—Habits—Compensations—The Ideal—Desire versus Wish—Methods—How to Do It—Special Desires—Love—Paying Attention—"I Am Life!"—The Will—"In the Silence"—With Eyes See Not—Prayer—Mental Poise—Directions—Practical Suggestions—The One Rule—Methods of Others.

No Ill Health or Unhappiness, or Poverty, has he who follows the principle laid down in this book. Read it and you will wish for all Mr. Brown's books.

SUCCESS. And How Won Through Affirmation..... 5c

A book for daily companionship. One to be carried in the pocket for meditation in hours of leisure. This is a fitting continuation of "How to Control Fate" and "Concentration." One friend said of it—"A grown-up edition of 'Dollars Want Me'!"

Here are titles of its sections. Is it not a promising list? Sect. 1. Faith in Self—2. The Ideal—3. What is My Ideal?—4. I Can!—5. Health—6. Do Right—7. Reputation—8. Dare and Do!—9. Hold Fast, and Let Go—10. Silence—11. The Dollar Side—12. The Test—13. Purpose of Life—14. Résumé.

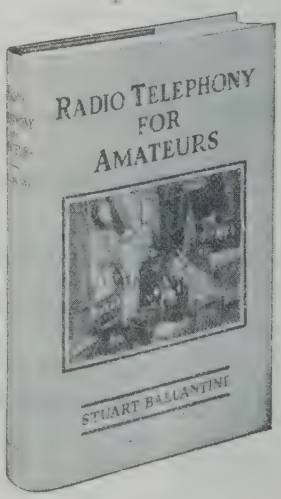
Radio Telephony for Amateurs

By STUART BALLANTINE

Consulting Engineer and Formerly Expert Radio Aid, United States Navy

TELLS YOU HOW AND WHY

You have in this book the ripened fruit of fourteen years concentrated study on the Telephone, Radio Telegraphy, and Radio Telephony. While Expert Radio Aide for the U. S. Navy Dept., Mr. Ballantine developed many pieces of very efficient and highly confidential radio apparatus. As a Fellow of the Amer. Phys. Soc. and a Member of the Amer. Math. Asso., A. I. E. E., and I. R. E., he gives to you the very latest ideas on Radio, fully tried out in his consulting practice.



IDEAS THAT WILL IMPROVE YOUR SET

Alternating Current; theory and practice.
Production, Transmission, and Reception of Radio Waves.
Telephony with wires, and without.
The Audion as a Detector, Amplifier and Oscillator.
How to build efficient Antennæ of Special Types.
What can be done with a Counterpoise.
Special Receiving Antennæ on Houses.
How to get the most out of Power Tubes.
Modulation Methods fully described.
How to get perfectly clear transmission.
How to make correctly designed parts.
Various sources of Power to drive the Set.
How to design the Filter Circuit.
How to make Step-up Transformers and Choke Coils.
Chemical Rectifier construction details.
Generator re-winding data.
Crystal and Audion Detection methods.
Autodyne and Heterodyne Reception; construction for Armstrong and Reinartz circuits.
How to make Radio and Audio Amplifiers.

BOWERS, R. S. Furniture Making. R. S. Bowers and other Designer-Craftsmen. Furniture Making, to quote a hackneyed phrase, "supplies the long-felt want" of a simple and practical handbook. It is devoted entirely to illustrations and details of household furniture, and when it is stated that in a volume of 416 pages there are no fewer than nearly 1,100 illustrations, it will be realized how great has been the effort to make this book complete. Every woodworker, be he amateur or professional, who needs beautiful designs to which to work, accompanied by full working drawings and illustrations of particular details, together with instructions on the method of building the various articles, will find in "Furniture Making" everything he seeks. 1100 illustrations, 416 pages, 8vo, cloth, ..net, 3 50

CLARKE, J. J. The Slide Rule. An Elementary Treatise. The author has no apology to make for afflicting the public with another book on the slide rule. He has been approached many times by engineers owning a rule, but practically unable to work it, with a request for an explanation of how to use it in certain cases. This has served to demonstrate that the instructions studied were not understood, and that they were so difficult, meager, or ambiguous that the reader did not have the patience to study them until he had mastered the intricacies of the rule. 12mo, cloth.....net, 1 00

HOW TO READ BLUEPRINTS. A Practical Manual for Reading Architects' Blueprints. By William S. Lowndes, Ph.B. Fully illustrated. 8vo, cloth.....net, 2 00

Realizing that there is a positive and widely spread demand for information regarding the art of reading and understanding blueprints, the author has endeavored to meet that demand in the preparation of this volume.

Ambitious carpenters and other building trades mechanics, however well trained in their respective trades, find their progress toward higher positions blocked by their inability to read working drawings or blueprints. These mechanics must take orders, therefore, from a building contractor or a foreman who has studied and acquired the knowledge of how to read blueprints.

This book will also be of use to contractors who are required to make estimates and to erect buildings from blueprints; also to subcontractors in the various trades, to building foremen, to mechanics desiring to become foremen, and to merchants and material men who furnish materials for use in a building.

HOUSE WIRING AND BELL WORK. Edited by William S. Lowndes, Ph.B. 8vo, cloth.....net, 2 00

In preparing this book on House Wiring and Bell Work an attempt has been made to free the subject from technical difficulties as far as possible, so that the subject might be understood by one who has only a limited knowledge of the subject of Electricity. It is hoped that it will thus be of use to the layman, the apprentice, and even to the wiring contractor.

PLASTER AND PLASTERING. By W. S. Lowndes and D. Knickerbacker Boyd. 73 Illustrations, 2 of which are in color. The book treats first of the preparation of a suitable base to support the plaster, and describes and illustrates the various kinds of furring and their application. The subjects of grounds, corner beads, wooden and metal lath, fireproof partitions, plaster boards and wall boards are next considered. The methods, materials, and tools used in plastering are described. Lime plaster, gypsum plaster, Keen's cement, Caen stone, and Portland cement plasters are described, also the methods used in their preparation and application. Ornamental plastering and the use of cast ornament are next discussed. Exterior plastering or stucco of various kinds are described and their advantages mentioned. The methods used in overcoating old buildings are given. 8vo, cloth,.....net, 1 25

HOLLOW TILE CONSTRUCTION. By Charles E. White, Jr., and W. S. Lowndes. Fully Illustrated. In this book the various standard types of hollow tile are described, together with the kinds of special tile that are used with the standard tile. The advantages claimed for each type are given. The application of these types to the construction of walls of different thickness is also described. The methods used in constructing walls, arches, lintels, etc., that are recommended by the hollow-tile manufacturers and which are in general use are illustrated and described. The use of hollow-tile blocks in building is also taken up. The methods used in attaching furring, trim, etc., to tile walls are shown. The finishing of hollow-tile buildings with stucco is described and examples of buildings before and after being stuccoed are shown. The treatment of the subject of Hollow Tile is up to date and represents the latest approved practice in the use of these blocks. 8vo, cloth,....net,$1 25

ROPER'S NEW QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. First Aid to an Engineer or Fireman Undergoing an Examination for the Purpose of Procuring a License. Entirely rewritten and greatly enlarged by Rufus T. Strohm and James D. Purdy. 12mo, leatheroid binding, . . net, $2 00

Because of the increase of pressures used in steam plants and the consequent greater danger through ignorant or careless management, states and municipalities are adopting stringent laws and ordinances to govern the licensing of steam-plant employes. Yet, so far as is known, there is no authoritative and comprehensive statement of the qualifications that should be possessed by licensed stationary engineers. The nature and scope of the questions given by the examining boards are about the only indication of the knowledge that the successful applicant must possess.

Especial care has been taken to refer to the many forms of boiler-room and engine-room devices that form so important a part of the equipment of modern power plants, and with the action and uses of which the alert engineer should be familiar.

The use of the internal combustion engine for the propulsion of vessels has necessitated the addition of a new section relating to the principles of prime mover, with especial emphasis on the marine Diesel engine.

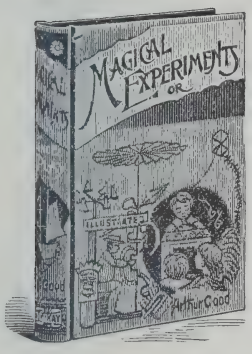
MAGIC.



GOOD, ARTHUR. Magical Experiments, or Science in Play. Illustrated and Explained. A Book for Young and Old. By Arthur Good. A Series of 200 Amusing, Popular, Scientific Experiments Meant for the Recreation of Old and Young. 165 Fine Illustrations.

Square 12mo, gilt back and side, ... $1 50

Many of these are simple pastimes, others possess a really scientific character, while the whole of these experiments may be performed without any special apparatus whatever. To give an idea of the endless variety of the work, we quote a few problems: A Rolling Body Goes Uphill, Foucault's Pendulum, The Egg in Salt Water, How to Make a Banana Peel Itself, Wine Changed to Water, The Plate on the Point of a Needle, How to Pierce a Nickel with a Needle, The Revolving Siphon, The Miniature Steamship, The Bottle Cannon, The Waltzing Egg, The Water Pendulum, In Water but not Wet, The Magic Ball, etc., etc. This entertaining book, written in language that every one can understand, gives the best answer to the so often repeated question, "What shall we do to-night?"

HOFFMANN, PROF. Modern Magic. A Practical Treatise on the Art of Conjuring. By Professor Hoffmann. With 318 Illustrations; 563 pages. With an Appendix containing explanations of many of the best known specialties of Maskelyne and Cooke. A handsome and substantial book, containing 300 tricks. Large 12mo, bound in cloth, . 2 00

Is a treatise, and a very practical one, on the art of conjuring, in its various and bewildering departments, some of which require special apparatus, most of which require that dexterity known as sleight-of-hand. There are, for example, card tricks which can be played with ordinary cards and without sleight-of-hand; and others again which demand special apparatus. There are coin tricks, tricks with watches, rings, handkerchiefs, dominoes, dice, etc.

The tricks are clearly and comprehensively explained by diagrams and illustrations when necessary. This book will afford an inexhaustible fund of amusement in a family where the young people are fond of games and are quick in acquiring these things. The explanations are given most comprehensively, and cover an immense field; besides, the book is filled with illustrations demonstrating the easiest way to accomplish these feats of legerdemain, magic, etc.

There is a vast difference between telling how a trick is done and teaching how to do it. This is the only book that teaches how to do it.

FAMOUS COLONIAL HOUSES. By Paul M. Hollister. Illustrated with twelve full page colored plates in full color by James Preston. With an introduction by Julian Street. Quarto, cloth, boxed..... net, $5 00

"We should all see these houses, or if we cannot see them, we should know them as some of them are made known to us in this book. Our land is a better land for having them within its borders, and we will be better citizens for an acquaintance with them."—Julian Street.

" 'Famous Colonial Houses,' as a book on American architecture, is a most delightful anthology of anecdote.

"No one can appreciate to the full a Greek temple or a Gothic cathedral without a knowledge of hellenistic philosophy or of mediæval religion, and this volume pictures in words and colors the customs and characteristics for fifty years before and after the Revolution, when the twelve 'colonial' houses enjoyed their days of romance. In place of an essay on the climatic and social influences of America on Georgian architecture, it is a personal narrative of our country's forebears.

"There is no pedantry in Mr. Hollister's treatment of the subject. The architecture is not dissected by the archæologist, the history is not stifled by the chronologist, the legends are not denuded by the iconoclast; instead, the personality of the mansions and of their occupants is presented briefly and gayly. Washington, Jefferson, and Carroll; Madame Jumel, 'Lord' Dexter, and Madame Lalaurie, great and small, are once more alive and human; their homes are no longer museum pieces and their epoch is brought into relation with our own."—The House Beautiful.

The Peck's Bad Boy Series

By George W. Peck

Ex-Governor of Wisconsin and a Noted Humorist

OVER A MILLION AND A QUARTER SOLD

Jackie Coogan, the famous motion-picture star, made a big hit in his side-splitting portrayal of the "Irrepressible Boy" in the "Peck's Bad Boy" moving pictures which were composed of episodes taken from the books in the "Peck's Bad Boy" series, the most popular humorous books now in print. The demand for these books is steadily increasing, each succeeding year's sales making a new record. Each of the four titles is complete in itself, with many illustrations by well-known artists and cartoonists.

The four titles comprise a library that will be appreciated by every fun-loving youngster.

A WONDERFUL AND ATTRACTIVE NOVELTY FOR CHILDREN

Size when extended, 49 in. x 10 in.
Size when closed, 12½ in. x 10 in.

Each Panorama is composed of a series of beautiful color pictures forming the backgrounds of various delightful scenes. In a neat pocket at the back of the book are to be found a large number of cut-out models, beautifully colored, these are for insertion into the slits arranged in the scenery for this purpose. The boys and girls can thus make innumerable interesting pictures for themselves, or they can follow out the idea of the story or description which is given in the book, in which case they will find for their guidance that the models are numbered and corresponding numbers are upon their respective slits in the scenery. The story or description in the book is illustrated with delightful drawings in black and white. Directions are given on each Panorama as to how to make up the scenes. The whole Panorama opens out and stands firmly and shuts up into a handsome book with a charming cover in full colour.

AMERICAN BOY'S WORKSHOP, THE. By Clarence B. Kelland. For every boy who succeeded in making something he wanted there are a hundred who failed—and they failed because they didn't know just how to go at it. If they had a hint or a few suggestions as to plan, or a drawing to follow, they would have built their fishpoles or boats or desks. And that is one of the reasons for publishing this book—to give the boy the help he must have to make what he needs.

Fully illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth, . net, $2 00

In the preparation of this book the editor has secured the best men to write the various departments. For instance, "Things for Boys to Make" has been prepared by John L. Dougheny, who edits the "For Boys to Make" column of The American Boy Magazine. The chapter on "Signalling" was written by Lieutenant W. S. Anderson of the United States Navy. The chapter on "Small Furbearers and How to Catch Them" was written by George J. Thiesen, a noted trapper and woodsman. The chapter on the Bow and Arrow is by A. Hyatt Verrill, and so on, making a complete handybook for boys, not by one man, but many men of wide experience, each writing about the subject he knows best.

ROBIN HOOD. By Paul Creswick. Illustrated with plates in full color by N. C. Wyeth..... net, 3 50

Mr. Wyeth has caught the spirit of this wonderful story that fairly reeks with the spirit of the out-of-doors, sunlight and wind, dark forests and shining meadows. The men that roam this countryside are flesh and blood, faces sun-tanned and roughened, their clothes coarse made and stained and fragrant of wood-smoke and scorched venison! One feels them to be capable of all the deeds, good and bad, attributed to them. We become identified with real people. We sense a contemporary quality in them.

HANS BRINKER, OR THE SILVER SKATES. By Mary Mapes Dodge. Illustrated with plates in full color by Maginel Wright Enright..... net, 3 50

LITTLE PEOPLE'S ANNUAL. Made for You by Father Tuck. Edited by Capt. Edric Vredenburg. Fourth year of publication. With thirty-seven color pictures. Charming designs in beautiful colors by Chloë Preston figure conspicuously in this captivating volume which is printed in large color type, rendering it a most acceptable present to the youngest members of the family. Lots of delightful pictures are provided by Hilda Cowham, Louis Wain, Ernest Aris, and many other artists who well know what the little people like, and amongst the writers are Gurney Slade, Norman Gale, G. F. Joy, Grace C. Floyd, and H. G. Swift. Songs and puzzles fill some of the pages, and every page brings fresh pleasure. Five full-page color plates and 32 pp. printed in two colors. 112 pp. letterpress. Pictorial Boards, Cloth Back . . . net, $1 50

LOYD, SAM. A Puzzle Book for Children. A book that will be heartily welcomed by the thousands of children who have been solving the Loyd Puzzles in the leading magazines and newspapers. 120 pages of puzzles beautifully printed in two colors, bound in artistic covers. Wrappers printed in four colors. 4to, net, 2 00

The child loves puzzles in the same spirit that youthful pride is felt in physical superiority, puzzles offering a chance to display alterness of mind.

This book of puzzles is particularly designed for young folk; there being nothing in the collection that might be considered to be beyond their ability to understand and master.

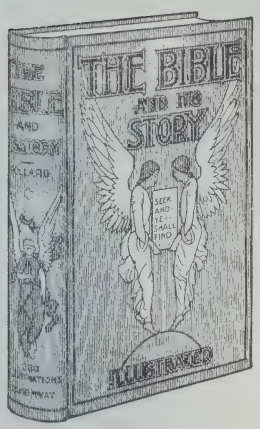
POLLARD, JOSEPHINE. The Bible and Its Story. By Josephine Pollard, author of "The History of the New Testament in Words of One Syllable," "History of the Old Testament," "Battles of America," etc. 12mo, cloth, ... 1 50



The book comprises 576 pages, size 6 x 8 inches. There are 280 illustrations (many of them full-page), of which a complete list is prefixed to the volume. Especial attention is called to the index, which occupies 22 double column pages, and contains upward of 2000 analytical references to the text. The great fullness of this index will of itself render the volume invaluable to all who believe that a familiar knowledge of the incidents of the Bible cannot be acquired at too early an age.

This volume has been published to assist parents, guardians, and teachers in the religious instruction of those under their charge, by enabling them to place in the hands of children a book which would reverently tell the Biblical story without sectarian bias.

SAUNDERS, MARSHALL. Author of "Beautiful Joe."

JIMMY GOLDCOAST. The Story of a Monkey and His Friends. 12mo, cloth ..... net, $1 50

At last Marshall Saunders has given us another book. Not since "Beautiful Joe" has she herself felt so keenly the spirit of a book as in this latest and most appealing story of a family, told by their pet monkey.

Quite as prominent as "Jimmy Goldcoast" are Nonnie, the beloved darky servant, and Polly, her parrot. These three all play an important part in the rescue from waywardness of a certain young man, who finally becomes a great power for good.

Those who know Miss Saunders' many books, need no reminder of the indefinable charm and fascination of her stories. Insight, tenderness, and humor have never been combined in quite the manner of which she is capable. In the beginning, her books capture the reader, heart and mind, teaching him a hundred things he would otherwise never know, and going on to delight him with pictures so real that he feels certain he must have "passed this way before." That her stories are now read all over the world, literally by the millions, and in almost every language, should be a great gratification to all who have loved her work these many years.

VAN LOON, HENDRIK WILLEM, A. B., Ph. D. A Short History of Discovery from the Earliest Times to the Founding of the Colonies. Written and drawn and done in color. This book does not intend to give children all the facts about all the events of the earliest discoveries of Greenland, Iceland, and America. It merely says, "dear children, history is the most fascinating and entertaining and instructive of arts." It tells us of men of great courage and people who knew how to die for their convictions. It shows us how very difficult it is to achieve anything in this world and how we have to work for everything we want to accomplish. About 54 full-page illustrations drawn with a match and colored inks, 8vo, ... net, 3 00

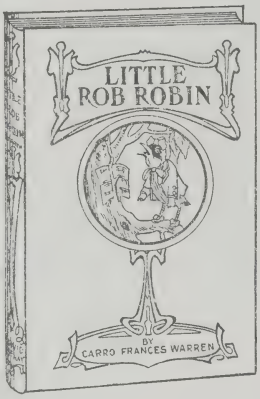
WARREN, CARRO FRANCES. Birdland Fairy Series

LITTLE ROB ROBIN



Every feathered songster that fills the woods with his music and cheerful twitter will be found in "The Birdland Fairy Series," which Miss Warren is bringing out to delight afresh her vast army of childish admirers.

In "Little Rob Robin" every chapter is a glimpse into a world of new delights. Such marvelous characters!—Rob and his sisters, Twitter and Fluffy, Dr. Wren and his amazing prescriptions for sick birds, talkative Miss Pecketty Pewee, funny Mrs. Wagtail, and a host of others equally amusing.

And Birdland is a place where such surprising things happen—the Woodpeckers' Surprise Party, for instance, the mishaps that befell disobedient little Rob, and many other astonishing and amusing things.

LITTLE CHICK CHICKADEE

What little reader can fail to find intense delight in "Little Chick Chickadee"? The visit to the Rabbit family—the clever ruse by which the birds gained admittance—the advent of such wholly charming characters as the Snowflake Sisters, the Nuthatch family, and the villain of the play, Mr. Cunning Crow—these are links in a chain of happenings that hold the reader spellbound by their very originality and freshness.

Each volume illustrated with eight full-page colored plates, artistically bound in cloth with colored inlay in cover. 12mo, gilt top, each . . . net, $1 00

WOOD, REV. J. G., M.A. New Illustrated Natural History. With many Hundred Illustrations from Designs by Wolf, Zwecker, Weir, Coleman, Harvey, and other Artists, engraved by the Brothers Dalziel. Stamped in Gold and Colors. Large 8vo, cloth, $4 00

Wood's "Natural History," with its charming descriptions and delightful anecdotes of all animals, both domestic and wild, is the greatest authority in the land. It gives, minutely and in the simplest language, the habits, haunts, diseases, and peculiarities of the entire animal kingdom. The descriptions of the animals are truthful and interesting. Their portraits, as shown in the hundreds of illustrations, are accurately drawn, and make us realize the variety and beauty of earth's creatures. The life and habits of animals, reptiles, birds, etc., are of equal interest to old and young.

THE STORY OF BUDDHA AND BUDDHISM HIS LIFE AND SAYINGS. Edited by Brian Brown

Illustrated, large 12mo, cloth . . . net $2.50

THE STORY OF CONFUCIUS HIS LIFE AND SAYINGS
Edited with a Preface by Brian Brown

Illustrated, large 12mo cloth . . . net 2.50
These two volumes in an oriental box net 5.00

Into these two volumes Brian Brown has condensed everything that is reliably known about these two fascinating personalities whose teachings are now the religious guides of over one-third of the human beings on the globe. He tells the fascinating story of the prophecy made to the king who was the Buddha's father—of how the king struggled to prevent its fulfillment and make his son a warrior-ruler like himself—and of how a tottering old beggar, a leper, a corpse and a hermit made Buddha a wandering holy man in spite of the royal will.
He tells how Confucius, also of noble family, for a time held high public offices, but gave them up to become a wandering teacher followed by a few disciples—little dreaming that his precepts would, centuries later, become the moral guide for the whole Chinese Empire, and would influence strongly the ethics of the whole civilized world.

Written with Clarity and Simplicity

The Story of Buddha and Confucius is one of the richest, fullest books that has so far in recent times come out of the Orient. It has its philosophical background deep in the historical literature of India and China—is immersed in the ancient beauty of philosophy and poetry. It is written with a fine clarity and simplicity, an austere and penetrating understanding. It presents in a fascinating manner the life-story of two of the most renowned sons of China and of "Mother India"—Buddha and Confucius—in the light of rare biography. It brings the spiritual gist that only the East can offer us in a gracious and beautiful way. —MARY SIEGRIST, Chairman, Women's Press Club.

Human and Interesting

What Will Durant has done for Western philosophy the "Story of Buddha and Buddhism" and the "Story of Confucius" has done for Far Eastern philosophy. The books contain the teachings of these masters in their own words, as well as a human and interesting account of their lives. The man in the street today can find in these two books much that he can use in his everyday life.—DR. HARI G. GOVIL, Editor, The Oriental Magazine.

*ARTISTS AND THEIR FRIENDS IN ENGLAND, 1700-1799. By William T. Whitley. Two volumes. 16 illustrations. 8vo., cloth, $15.00. This belongs in the same category with Boswell's "Johnson" in that it is intimate, gossipy, human, lively and informative. It deals with the whole Eighteenth Century and is charming reading. American readers will be particularly interested in the new information given about the American painters who settled in England during the Eighteenth Century, such as Benjamin West, Copley, Gilbert Stuart, Mather Brown, John Greenwood of Boston, Henry Bembridge who painted for Boswell the portrait of Paoli, the Corsican patriot, and that remarkable woman, Patience Wright, the wax modeller and political agent, whose daughter married John Hoppner, R.A.

*STORIES OF THE ITALIAN ARTISTS. (Venetian and Umbrian Schools). By Margaret Leicester-Warren. 8 illustrations, 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

THE RICCARDI PRESS BOOKS

The Riccardi Press Books are printed in the fount specially designed by the late Mr. H. P. Horne for the Medici Society. It is now in use in two sizes, "14-point" and "11-point."

A special hand-made paper, with Riccardi water-mark, is employed throughout, except where otherwise stated.

The volumes are issued under four headings, and are with one exception published in two alternative styles of binding; boards, canvas back, paper label, and silk bookmarks and limp vellum, gold lettering, silk ties. In some cases special editions printed on vellum are issued, such copies being bound in limp Kelmscott vellum. Omission of prices signifies that the volumes are out of print in the vellum edition. The Society is occasionally able to inform customers where these copies are to be obtained.

All editions are strictly limited and the type is distributed after the edition has been printed.

(I) ILLUSTRATED QUARTO SERIES—in "14-point" type—comprising illustrated editions of selected works of the highest literary quality.

(II) SCRIPTORUM CLASSICORUM BIBLIOTHECA RICCARDIANA—in "14-point" type—in a smaller quarto, printed throughout in blue and black.

(III) OCTAVO SERIES—in "14-point" or "11-point" type—consisting of selected works, whether reprints or now first published. Illustrations are in some cases reproduced from the original editions.

SPECIAL NOTICE

WHEN ORDERING, give name in full with post office, county, and state, also express or freight office, if different from the post office. Specify the exact title, and in ordering English texts indicate the series required.

INTRODUCTION ORDERS. When books are wanted for first introduction, the fact should be clearly stated at the time of ordering, and the name of the school together with that of the board of education and of the superintendent or principal should be given.

ALL ORDERS from persons unknown to us should be accompanied by remittances or by satisfactory New York City or local bank references.

BOOKS ORDERED ON REGULAR ACCOUNT are not subject to return. We cannot fill orders for books of other publishers.

REMITTANCES should be made by draft, postal or express money order, or registered letter.

EARLY ORDERS. We endeavor to fill all orders on the day of their receipt, but there are times when it is not possible. To insure satisfactory delivery, due allowance should be made for unavoidable delay. We appreciate the receipt of early orders.

Statesmen of the War

In Retrospect—1918-1928

By WILLIAM MARTIN

TEN years after the Armistice, it is now possible, and appropriate, to look back on the Great War with historical perspective, and to appraise the character and services of its statesmen. Since November, 1918, conditions and points of view in the various belligerent countries have changed vitally; the great reputations of the war period can now be evaluated in the light of after events. This volume contains portraits of all the leading statesmen of the war, in which are brilliantly etched the individuality and the achievement of each.

William Martin, it is no exaggeration to say, is the one man best equipped to attempt such a task. He has been Foreign Editor of the Journal de Genéve since before the War and in 1914 was already an acknowledged expert on international affairs. Since then his opportunity to observe and adjudge the progress of world events has been unexampled; the War swirled about him for four years, and, since the formation of the League of Nations, Geneva has been the political center of the world.

Among the leading figures which emerge from Mr. Martin's shrewd and able pen are; among Americans, Wilson, Hoover, and House; in England, Lloyd-George, Asquith, and Churchill; in France, Clemenceau and Poincaré; in Italy, Sonnino and Orlando; in Germany, the Kaiser, Hindenburg, and Ludendorff; in Austria, Czernin and Emperor Charles; in Russia, Sazonov and Lenin; and in Greece, Venizelos.

An amazing pageant it is that Mr. Martin sets before us in this epochal book—a study of human contrasts in light and shade against a background of world conflict.

Benjamin Franklin of Paris

By WILLIS STEELL

THE geniality of Franklin shines through this book, in his friendships with the "good ladies" of Paris and in the persuasive fashion that marked his handling of delicate international affairs for the struggling colonies. Among the great figures who appear in this narrative of his great years are Mirabeau, Voltaire, Diderot, Mme. Brillon, Mme. du Deffand, Mme. Helvétius, John Adams, Beaumarchais, and the Duc de Vergennes.

Mr. Steell has long been on the staff of the Paris edition of the New York Herald, and has had exceptional opportunities to study Franklin from the French point of view. His love for Paris and the French people has made him a singularly successful interpreter of the great American whose personality came into full flower in eighteenth century France. Fully Illustrated or, a set of Twelve Originals and Extravagants from ELAGABALUS, the Waggish Emperor, to MR. PROFESSOR PORSON, the Tippling Philologer.

By MORRIS BISHOP

NOT from sober histories, but from old accounts of the days they enlivened, Mr. Bishop has produced portraits of the following "fantastics;" Elagabalus, the laughter-loving young Emperor of Rome; Brusquet, practical joker in the court of Francis I; van Helmont, the sixteenth century chemist; Thomas Urquhart, the fiery Scotch translator of Rabelais; Sir Jeffery Hudson, the midget courtier; the Abbé de Choisy, who preferred female attire; Duke Mazarin, the lily-livered husband of the Rebellious Duchess; Bartholomew Roberts, the psalm-singing pirate captain; Bampfylde-Moore Carew, an Englishman who became king of the gypsies; Edward Wortley Montagu, jr., scapegrace son of a famous mother; Lorenzo da Ponte, Mozart's librettist and, later, grocer of Elizabeth, New Jersey; and Richard Porson, eminent scholar and supreme drunkard. Fully Illustrated

Publication on October 5th Price, $3.50

The World's Best Short Stories of 1928

Foreword by PAUL PALMER

THIS fourth collection in a successful series has been made according to the same policy that governed the other three. Each of the editors of sixteen leading American magazines was asked to select the five stories he liked best of those he published during the year; from these, one from each magazine was selected, to be published in The World and thirty other newspapers, and later to appear in book form.

Publication on August 17th Price, $2.50

Biographies of Unusual Americans

A strikingly successful series of biographies of curious figures in American history, written with good humor and with a keen appreciation for the colorful quality they have added to our heritage. Decorations by PHILIP KAPPEL.

Simon Girty: The White Savage

By THOMAS BOYD

THE author of "Through the Wheat" in this narrative turns to another war, the Western Front during the Revolution, when Simon Girty, infamous renegade of frontier tradition, led the Ohio Indians against the American troops. In telling the story of Girty, Mr. Boyd has chiefly concerned himself with Simon's adventures during the period between Lord Dunmore's War—when the hunting grounds of the savages were first strongly invaded by the American Colonists—and the battle of Fallen Timber, where Mad Anthony Wayne broke the power of the Shawanese, Miamis, Delawares and Wyandots, thus clearing the Ohio country and the whole northwest for white pioneers.

Girty's name has long been a synonym for treachery and cold-blooded inhumanity; Mr. Boyd, after a close study of original sources, is able to give a new conception of his character—if not to excuse, at least to explain, this frontier roughneck. Illustrated

Publication on September 21st Price, $3.50

Lorenzo Dow: The Bearer of the Word

By CHARLES COLEMAN SELLERS

LORENZO DOW was the most prominent of itinerant preachers in the early years of the nineteenth century, when emotionalized religion was sweeping the young republic. Dow, by his habit of wandering wherever the spirit prompted him to go, by his shrewdness and knowledge of human nature, and by his careful cultivation of his reputation as "Crazy Dow," attained an enormous popular fame. A Connecticut Yankee of the old breed, he "took religion" in a sickly and neurotic boyhood, and gradually reverted to type without doffing his ministerial character.

Mr. Sellers is a graduate of Haverford College with an M.A. degree from Harvard University, where he made a special study of American social history. His story of the self-styled "Eccentric COSMOPOLITE," though based on thorough research, is a lively and entertaining picture of the early days, with the fantastic Lorenzo and Peggy, his faithful "rib," in the foreground of the tale. Illustrated

The Enforcement of Criminal Law

By RAYMOND MOLEY

MR. MOLEY is Professor of Public Law at Columbia University and, having conducted exhaustive crime surveys in New York, Ohio, Missouri and Illinois, he is perhaps better qualified than any other American to speak on the all-important subject of law enforcement.

Based on the enormous quantity of data that has been collected in these surveys, Mr. Moley in this book goes to the root of the subject. He gives a general interpretation of the path of justice as it is administered, and points out the extraordinary importance of the prosecutor in determining which cases shall come to trial. The persuasive part of politics and of other considerations in influencing the prosecutor, the current system of "trial by newspapers," the police situation, the methods of the court room and "the vanishing jury" are illuminatingly analyzed.
